

Right support, right place, right time: Unpicking the SEND review and the implications for inspection

Friday 3rd February 2023
9.30am – 3.00pm

This online session will examine the findings and recommendations made in the long-awaited review into provision for pupils with SEND. Participants will explore each of the key aspects identified and reflect on the implications of these for their school provision.

The following aspects will be considered:

- how well leaders identify, assess and meet the needs of pupils with SEND, including when pupils with SEND are self-isolating and/or receiving remote education
- how well leaders ensure that the curriculum is coherently sequenced to meet all pupils' needs, starting points and aspirations for the future
- how successfully leaders involve parents, carers and, as necessary, other professionals/specialist services in deciding how best to support pupils with SEND, including agreeing the approach to remote education
- how well leaders include pupils with SEND in all aspects of school life
- how well leaders ensure that pupils' outcomes are improving as a result of any different or additional provision being made for them, including any reasonable adjustments in remote education provision. This covers outcomes in:
 - communication and interaction
 - cognition and learning
 - physical health and development
 - social, emotional and mental health
